Community Xmas Music, Decorations Planned

Plans for Christmas decorating and special community programs of music were advanced when Mill Creek Business Men's Association held a meeting last evening. Thirty-five gathered for dinner at the Keynote Hotel, with J. S. Lynn presiding.

Amplified recordings will fill the room with music each evening and at other periods from Thanksgiving until Christmas time; gay colored lights, bright greens, and aquas with the season's greetings, will be seen; and large candles and d-fashioned lanterns will blaze forth with Yuletide light.

The decorative motif for Mill Creek and Radcliffe street from Mill to Mulberry, calls for small evergreens at the base of each electric light pole on those thoroughfares. At the four poles nearest each intersection there will be placed at least three-quarters of the way to the top, old fashioned lanterns or candles, two of each to a corner, these will light up seasonal words, greeting. Mid-way of each block will appear two-faced, wreathed aquas which will give forth a word of Christmas cheer.

The amplifier for the Christmas music recordings is being donated by the Bristol Blood Donors.

Community singing of carols will be held on Christmas eve and possibly one or two other evenings at a community tree at Mill and Radcliffe streets. The leaders will be members of Bristol Glee Club Music. The glee club is also to be amplified this year, thus affording a large group to hear their numbers.

The association has arranged for Santa Claus to visit Bristol, and to spend several hours a day on Mill Creek during the holiday season. Members were informed at the meeting that post-hole digging equipment will be put to work next week at the borough parking lot, for the setting of posts for ranking utilities.

BUCKS PASTURE LAND TAKES ON NEW LOOK

Rains of Last Few Days Have Greatly Helped The Grasses

GRAINS SHOW UP WELL

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 24 — Pasture lands are taking a new lease on life following the rather heavy rain the latter part of last week, said Assistant County Agent Paul T. Rothrock as he commented upon crop conditions this morning.

Pastures many of them very heavily grazed during the Summer and early Fall, were beginning to show the result of a lack of rain the latter part of September and the fore part of last month.

The rain last week, said Mr. Rothrock, will give the grasses an opportunity to grow in case very cold weather does not arrive too soon. This will mean that the grazing lands next Spring will be in better condition.

In spite of the lack of rain, barley and wheat are making a good appearance. The occasional light rains, even though they did not penetrate the soil to any depth, in addition to the continued warm weather throughout the Fall, were of great benefit to the grain. A few of the farmers have some soy beans to be harvested.

With few exceptions, the corn harvest, which has been unusually good, has been completed. With other sections of the country which harvested the heaviest crop in history, Bucks county also rated quite high in its corn yield.

The length of time in harvesting

THANKSGIVING

Maybe it's a little hard to find something for a dyed-in-the-wool Republican to be thankful for this November.

But there are some things—political and otherwise. One is the very same subject that started Thanksgiving Day in the first place—that the nation really has an adequate food supply for the immediate future. Bumper crops are always a justification for giving thanks—even if the grocery-store prices stay high!

Here are some other reasons for a deep and sincere sense of gratitude:

That World War III hasn't started—yet.

That we had the Taft-Hartley Act for at least a year; long enough for a breathing spell from the tumultuous era before this law was passed. Production of the things we need has climbed up enough to take the edge off the scarcities.

That we had a brief let-up in the terrific New Deal taxes—even though Mr. Truman may be about to restore the cuts.

That the children, this year, will actually be able to have toys and candy in abundance; the store windows look more like Christmas than they have since 1941.

That turkey prices aren't any higher.

That, for all the clamor about the housing shortage, most of our friends who really want new houses seem able to have them built—or build them!

That the downward trend in "new look" skirts seems to have stopped.

That we are living in America, which still has a future before it (if it can keep on being "eternally vigilant") and not living in some other part of the world whose future is behind it.

That God gave us all growing things—to prove, among other lessons, that the makeshifts of man are transient by comparison with the everlasting verities.

That happiness is a matter of hope rather than present reality; that "Man never is, but always to be, blessed;" and that recent disappointments can be forgotten in future expectations.

That there are Democrats in Congress just as patriotic and zealous of the true welfare of this nation as the might-have-been-elected Republican candidates.

That the turn of events has centered the basic decisions of American policy back where they always should have been centered under the Constitution—on the people's branch of the government, Congress.

That we aren't in Mr. Truman's shoes.

GRAND JURY HEARS CRIMINAL COURT CASES

George C. Mather, Langhorne, Is Appointed To Act As Foreman

GRANT FIVE DIVORCES

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 24 — Judge Calvin S. Boyer charged the Grand Jury Monday at the opening of the November term of criminal court, and appointed George C. Mather, of Langhorne, a carpenter as foreman. Forty-one cases are listed for Grand Jury action.

Trial by traverse juries will get under way next Monday.

Samuel Niglio, of Phila., pleaded guilty before Judge Keller this morning to a charge of assault and battery. The Court suspended sentence and placed Niglio on probation for 23 months.

The Court also directed that the defendant reimburse Ernest Jarner, whom he injured in a tap room altercation—reimbursement for a serious eye injury. The injured person agreed to the arrangement.

Three divorces were handed down by Judge Keller and two by Judge Boyer this morning as follows:

Ralph C. Reedman, Jr., of 349 North Broad st., Phila., from Jessie E. Reedman, of Bristol township, 1942 at Elkton, Md.

Clara W. Rogers, of Haycock township, from John J. Rogers, of 1317 S. Main st., Charlotte, N. C. They were married Sept. 25, 1939, at Elkton, Md.

UNDER 100 OBSERVED FIRST THANKSGIVING

Early Americans Gave Thanks in Spite of Facing Bleak Winter

BETWEEN WOODS, SEA

The First American Thanksgiving was observed by less than one hundred men, women and children who were facing a bleak New England winter, their second in America. They were living unprotected between 3000 miles of wilderness and 3000 miles of sea. Within eleven months nearly one-half of their original number had died of hardship and over-exertion. Yet they were rendering thanks for their first harvest, which seemed to them the most bountiful gift that nature had ever bestowed on men, although their condition, measured by the standards of the Twentieth Century, was one of unimaginable destitution. They had arrived on the shores of Massachusetts with the meager equipment of a few tools and a few bags of seed most of which was unsuited to the New England soil and climate.

They were facing the unknown dangers of Indian warfare, and it was not two weeks after their first

"Landscape Architecture" Discussed Before Club

ANDALUSIA, Nov. 24 — "Landscape Architecture in Relation to Modern Living" was the subject upon which Herman G. Flesser addressed members of Bensalem Rotary Club in King Hall last evening. Mr. Flesser, a member of Doylestown Kiwanis Club, spoke at length on indoor and outdoor living and the modern home. "The plot of ground surrounding the house should be part of the living quarters," he informed as he spoke of division into units the same as the interior of the house, with portions for outdoor dining, outdoor "living room," etc.

By means of shrubbery these sections can be set apart he explained, adding that shrubbery should be planted for this purpose alone; with "natural plantings" such as trees for shade, etc. With proper attention to detail, Mr. Flesser informed, full use of "free" advantage such as sun, light and fresh air, will be afforded.

President Phillip G. Mack introduced the guest.

T. F. CHROSTWAITE IS SPEAKER HERE TO COUNTY GROUP

President of State Ass'n of Boroughs Tells of Legislation for Boroughs

NEARLY 100 ATTEND

Speaker Marvels at Growth of Bucks County Group in Two Months

Highlighted by an address by the president of the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs, the Bucks County Association of Boroughs met here last evening, convening at Sutton's Cafe, State Road. It was the second meeting of the association, having organized Sept. 28 at Quakertown.

The speaker, T. F. Chrostwaite, Esq., Hanover, gave much information of value to those who guide the business affairs of boroughs. He enlightened them upon provisions of the borough code, matters which had been accomplished in the way of favorable legislation, and what pending legislation will be of benefit to boroughs.

Expressing his keen delight, and telling of his astonishment at the growth of the Bucks County association within a period of two months, Mr. Chrostwaite said, "This is the first meeting of an association I have ever addressed, which has become full grown within two months. I have never seen a group get together so quickly."

Explaining that the State Association of Boroughs was formed in 1911 and now has a membership of 55 percent of the boroughs, representing over two million people, the speaker stated that the membership of the state body is now 525.

He said that the State Association of Boroughs is affiliated with kindred associations and with the associations of third class cities and both classes of townships. The organization is for the purpose of promoting the interests of boroughs as a whole, reflecting their ideas upon legislation and in safeguarding the interests of boroughs. The complexities of the interests of Pennsylvania was mentioned and included industry, agriculture, steel, coal and oil. The speaker mentioned that there are some boroughs in the State with populations of less than 50. "One of the prime objects of the state association is to promote home rule for boroughs, and to permit them to control their own finances. He cautioned of a movement to pass legislation which might abolish the rights of boroughs to impose the amusement tax. He said that "boroughs, and boroughs alone, have the right to build utilities and to use

Church School Board Honors Miss Randall

Recognition for her long and loyal service was given to Miss Harriet Randall last evening by the church school board of Bristol Methodist Church. This was the regular November meeting of the board.

Miss Randall was presented with a gold pin by Mrs. Arthur Peterson, on behalf of the board.

Before the presentation, the Rev. Charles H. Weller, pastor, made appropriate remarks. He spoke of the great task of being a successful teacher in the church school. "Any one who teaches and helps in the church school work, shows great loyalty and devotion to a wonderful cause, the religious education of their pupils," he said.

In accepting the gift, Miss Randall told the history of her class. The class was originally taught by Miss Mary Lippincott for over 25 years, in the old church on Wood street above Mulberry. When the present church was built, this class purchased the fronted glass for the windows of the entire church school. Later on, when the new church was opened, the class purchased the table cloth, dishes, silverware, and helped to purchase the cooking equipment. Some of the dishes and silverware are still in use. After the death of Miss Lippincott, Miss Randall became teacher, and taught the class for over 29 years. For many years the class attendance averaged over 20 members.

Miss Randall has recently resigned as teacher of the class. She has been a member of the Sunday School for 75 years.

At the close of the board meeting, refreshments were served in Miss Randall's honor.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1948

THANKSGIVING, 1948

The harvest was in. The Pilgrims, in that November of 1621, knew at last that most of them would survive a second New England winter. If the crops had failed, or if ships from Europe had failed to arrive with help, few would have lived until spring.

So the Pilgrims celebrated, not a single day, but a long period of thanksgiving. They invited their Indian neighbors, who came bearing great arrow-pierced wild turkeys. They feasted together, and thanked God with songs and prayers, and unlimbered their work-stiffened sinews in lively games with the Indians. They were lucky, and they knew it.

For more than two centuries thereafter Thanksgiving was not celebrated annually, but only in years of particular peril. There was no fixed date for it, and observance was not always nationwide. But for nearly 90 years it has been an annual affair.

Its inner meaning has never been altogether staled by custom, but it no longer lies on the surface and it is necessary to dig deeper to find it. That is particularly true in 1948, when the 1621 picture has almost reversed itself. The Pilgrims of 1621, threatened by privation that had almost decimated their ranks, had saved themselves, with the help of God, by their own efforts. But their best efforts might have failed if ships had not borne subsistence from Europe's relative plenty.

Today it is Europe that must save itself, God willing, by its own efforts and the help of well-fed America.

The desperately poor, in 1621, gave thanks as they could. We, their descendants, in 1948, will give thanks appropriate to our changed status by sharing our God-given abundance. We will thank God by remembering that He loves a cheerful giver.

NATURE RUNS AMUCK

The blizzard in Kansas, Colorado and Nebraska which isolated dozens of towns and cities, stranded hundreds of travelers in buses and trains, and stopped transportation and most of the normal activities of residents of the area, was a reminder that nature can be as violent as ever.

No doubt people in that area, as elsewhere, had been saying that the weather certainly isn't what it was in years past. Newspapers frequently printed stories of the sufferings of the pioneers, snowbound for weeks, and of travelers on stage and horse who had narrow escapes or lost their lives in blizzards in pioneer days.

Well, this is the atomic age, and when nature runs amuck people are just about as helpless as they were in the seventies. Electric lines fail, trains cannot get through, and that wonderful new and indispensable invention, the automobile, is about as useful as a snowball in July.

Whether this onslaught of winter is a forerunner of what is ahead for the nation remains to be seen. Perhaps it is and perhaps it isn't. When even the weatherman misses his shots, there is nothing to do but wait and see.

Inside Your Congress

Thanksgiving

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The Mayflower, on its lonely path across the Atlantic, was a grander sight than the fleets of great admirals. For in that little ship were great-hearted men and women who "braved the tempests of the vast and furious ocean and the terrors lurking in the American wilderness" to found a new society where the word "MAN" was written in capital letters.

In the ship's cabin, the Mayflower Compact was written on November 11, 1620. It established the first charter of a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, known to history.

Magna Carta was signed by a king. It granted to knights and nobles some of the liberty they demanded. Other milestones on freedom's path had been erected by aristocrats and earls—brave men, too, and to them our thanks.

But the Mayflower Compact was signed by every man on board. They all recognized each other as equal sovereigns in their "civil body politic." It became the first American State paper—the first constitution of government by white men on this Western shore. "History records no nobler venture for Faith and Freedom. . . . In weariness and painfulness, in hunger and cold, they laid the foundation of a State" dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal before God and the law. All men. No exceptions whatever.

This page of history has a sequel. It is the first Thanksgiving Proclamation by a President of the United States—George Washington, on November 26, 1789. For 2000 years there had been harvest festivals when the earth brought forth its increase. But good harvests were not the important point for which General Washington thought thanks should be given. He asked that it be a day of thanks for the adoption of the Constitution—a more perfect union of a greater government than that of the Pilgrims.

After Washington, no President issued a Thanksgiving Proclamation until Abraham Lincoln on October 3, 1863. Referring to the greatness of our country, "No human counsel hath devised," he said, "nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things."

Thanksgiving was more than turkey and family ties re-knit, to Washington and Lincoln. It should be more than that to us. To them it was the day of the citizen, grateful for "the grand doctrine that all men are born equal and born free, born to the same inheritance exactly of chances and of hopes; where every child is invited and stimulated to strive for the happiest life, the largest future, the most conspicuous virtue."

I am glad that I live in a land where an election can be held in which no one is killed, and against which no one appeals to force; glad that I can write and speak and read and hear the thoughts of other men; glad that I have the key to a home in which no one may enter uninvited; glad that racial and religious sores are healing in this blessed land; glad that Big League baseball has admitted Negroes to its ranks; glad that, if accused, I can be tried by a jury of my peers; glad that Star Chamber and the rack have passed out of our society, and the Gestapo has not entered it; glad that there is no American Siberia for political minorities to perish in; glad that I can go anywhere between our oceans and without passport or permission; glad that I can choose my job or quit and choose again; glad that any group can lift church spires to the skies, or cathedral towers, or lay the foundation of mosque or synagogue and none to say them nay; glad for our children's schools and our laboratories where men are free to seek out the secrets of the atom and the Milky Way, or create stout slaves of iron and steel to do the world's hard work; glad that Washington and Jefferson and Pilgrim and Cavalier are my inheritance—to have and to hold.

Wilmington, Del. They were married at Langhorne, July 16, 1936.

Mary Profy, of 245 Mill st., Bristol, from Thomas Profy, Jr., of 73 Schumacher Drive, Bristol.

John E. Slack, of Middletown township, from Mabel C. Slack, of Phila. They were married June 27, 1905, at Phila.

W. King Allen, of Tinicum township, a retired resident of that community, pleaded guilty before Judge Keller to driving while drunk in Doylestown on April 21, this year, when he was arrested by Patrolman Veryl Hoyt, of the Doylestown police.

Hoyt testified that Allen's car struck a parked coal truck that was driven by James J. Davis, Jr., and was backed up to a residence at 133 North Main street, Doylestown. The policeman testified that Allen was "very drunk" and that he was impolite and abusive when he was arrested.

Allen testified that he had been drinking at an Upper Black Eddy hotel before the accident. The defendant further testified that the policeman knocked a cigarette case out of his hands and later knocked a cigarette out of his mouth.

Patrolman Hoyt denied the accusation, explaining to the court that he asked Allen to refrain from smoking at the doctor's office during his examination, and that he did place Allen's cigarette case in the defendant's side pocket.

Character witnesses for Allen included Quintus Lerch, of Tinicum township, and Howard M. Barnes, of Doylestown.

Judge Keller imposed a sentence of $200 and costs on Allen.

Daniel K. Boyce, of Bethlehem, pleaded guilty before Judge Boyer to operating an automobile after his operating privilege had been revoked. He was fined $25 and costs.

BULLDOGS AND WARRIORS TO CLASH IN TURKEY-DAY CLASSIC HERE; TWO OTHER GAMES SCHEDULED

Coach Marlon VanHorn's boys have won seven of their nine games and have tied two. They have a record of scoring on every team they have engaged this season and have hauled up the amazing total of 231 points.

Comparing the records of the two teams this season, Bensalem should be the victor. Langhorne has won three games and lost five. It has dropped its last four games.

Indications point to a close game between Morrisville and Bristol here. Coach Gordon Davis' team has won five games, lost two, and tied one.

Coach Harry McClister's Bristol team has won three, lost five, and tied one. Morrisville has scored 155 points while holding its foes to 68. Bristol has racked up 190 points while its opponents have scored 122.

Comparing the opponents of the two teams will not help any. Morrisville was beaten by Bensalem, while Bristol held the Owls to a 6 tie. On the other hand, Morrisville beat Burlington while the Blue Devils beat the Warriors. Morrisville scored 34 points against Langhorne while Bristol's best was 18, both lost to Trenton Catholic by a lachdown.

Morrisville scored triumphs over Tinecton, Burlington, Pennsbury, Southampton and Langhorne and lost to Trenton Catholic and Bensalem. Council Rock held the Bulldogs to a deadlock.

Bristol's wins were over Hathboro, Onshocken, and Langhorne while its defeats were handed to them by Trenton Catholic, Pottstown, Abington, Vineland and Burlington. The game with Bensalem ended in a stalemate.

Six seniors will be in the starting Bristol lineup and it will be the final game for this sextet. "Jim" Sottile, star wingman for the past three seasons, will be playing his last game. All season Sottile has been snatching passes thrown in his direction and also has been a defensive player. Coach McClister's two guards, Bud Pearson and Frank Genco will be playing their last game in a Bristol high uniform. Pearson has opened large holes for the backs for the past two seasons and has broken up many plays of visiting schools. Genco came up fast this season to earn starting berth.

Bob Kornstedt is finishing up his school football. Kornstedt is a back and will be in at right half against the Bulldogs. Most of last season and part of this year, Kornstedt was doing most of the kicking for the Warriors. Since a head injury against Pottstown, Kornstedt was out of used much early in the season but has been playing mostly defensive ball in recent games.

"Val" Bielecki and "Georgie" Warchol are the other two seniors who will be among the missing next year. Bielecki and Warchol did not play varsity ball until this season and both made good from the start. Bielecki is a center and has carried the brunt of his work since Ned Wright was injured. Warchol, a senior on the defense, is a tackle.

The other starting Bristol end will be Frank Rich who has shown up brilliantly in the last two games. Rich, a lanky youngster, is quite adept in the catching of aerials and made nice catches in both the Burlington and Bensalem games.

On the other side of Warchol at tackle will be "Bud" Weida who has been at this post all season.

"Al" Daniel, who was injured against Burlington, is back into harness and ready for action. It really hurt Daniels to sit out the last game on the bench but they were the doctor's orders. McClister did send Daniels in to hold the ball while Moll attempted a place-kick but that was all for the Bristol signal caller.

Daniel, whose field generalship is unquestioned, will make a big difference in the Warriors' backfield. Besides the quarterback and Kornstedt, the other backfield starters will be Marty Braam and "Bill" Moll. Braam was converted from an end to a back in the last two games and has shown prowess in the heaving of forward passes. Moll's playing need not be explained to the followers of the cardinal and grey as he has been the best ground gainer all season.

Coach McClister held a scrimmage Monday afternoon during the rain and was well-satisfied with the showing of his proteges. He feels confident that his lads will beat the Morrisville team and wipe out the 12-0 loss inflicted by the Bulldogs last season.

Morrisville is McClister's alma mater. Although the local coach has finally secured an apartment in Bristol, his school football days were at Morrisville. During the years of 1936 and 1937, McClister was a quarterback on the Bulldogs' eleven. Bristol beat Morrisville in 1936 and were given a drubbing in 1937.

Now the shoe is on the other foot and McClister will be out to direct his squad to score as many times as it can against the Morrisville team.

Coach Gordon Davis' squad will be handicapped by the loss of its star backs, "Jim" Walsh and "Charlie" Johnson. This pair was injured against Council Rock and was a blow to the Morrisville team.

The Morrisville starting lineup will most likely be composed of: Ends, Gavin and Bucknum; tackles, Foster and Zurlo; guards, Pfeiffer, and Johnson; center, R. Roberts; backs, Fleischer, Felver, Powell and Marrucci.

The tilt will also have a bearing on the final outcome of the Lower Bucks County Conference. Bristol and Bensalem are tied for first place with a victory and tie while Morrisville has won and lost a game. Langhorne has lost two games.

The strong Tacony A. A. eleven will be the opponent of the St. Ann's A. A. gridlers tomorrow afternoon on the high school field. Kickoff is scheduled for 2:15 o'clock.

Known to have one of the strongest teams in Philadelphia, the Tacony boys will be well groomed for the "Saints." For the past several years, St. Ann's has been anxious to put Tacony on its schedule of both football and baseball. Athletic Director Sam Moffo and Manager "Lou" Nicols finally succeeded in securing this Thanksgiving Day tilt.

F. Chrostwaite Speaker Here to County Group

income therefrom to reduce taxes." According to Mr. Chrostwaite, boroughs have nearly every power they need. It was explained there is a movement afoot to change the fiscal year for boroughs from January to July and to make it coincide with the fiscal year of school districts.

He advocated municipal ownership of utilities by boroughs and cited instances where such has proven very profitable. He suggested the creating of sinking funds to be for depreciation and rehabilitation.

There was a brief address of welcome to the visitors by Jacob C. Schmidt, burgess of Bristol. Burgess Schmidt praised the progress of Bristol, told of its growth and development. He highly complimented the council of the borough of Bristol, and specifically mentioned various committees and departments of Bristol borough's government.

He invited the group to return to Bristol sometime for a day session so that they might have an opportunity to see Bristol and to learn at first hand its many advantages. He mentioned that Bristol was incorporated in 1629 and that great progress has been made, especially within the past 15 years. He said at Bristol council is doing a wonderful job in operating the borough's water works, which is a million and a half dollar corporation, serving a population of 20,000. He said as his opinion that Bristol should be forced to seek more of its water supply from the Delaware river because of the increased need for a greater quantity. "I feel confident that we will have water sufficient for all industries here," he stated.

"We have 23 miles of streets, eight miles being of concrete. We have a good police and fire department and our fire loss is very low. There are over 30 miles of sewers. The burgess said that he thought Bristol had been honored in having the Bucks County Association of Boroughs meet here."

In making his report as secretary, Francis J. Byers, Bristol, advised that he had prepared copies of the association's by-laws for distribution. He reported that 20 of the 22 boroughs in the county had joined the association, and that 15 names had been listed as members of the executive committee. Sixteen boroughs have paid their dues, and 92 representatives were present at the meeting last evening.

Treasurer D. Russell Bond, Newtown, reported a total of $370 paid in dues membership dues.

President G. Thawley Hayman, Doylestown, presided and expressed his appreciation for the fine attendance and the work of the committee in arranging the affair. The committee was composed of F. J. Hetherington, William Wallace, Joseph Perry, James Eagan and John Racagnano, all Bristol councilmen.

Mr. Hayman informed the group that three invitations had been received for the meeting in February. "As you recall," he said, Charles G. Rathke, president of Bristol borough council, at our meeting in Quakertown, invited us to meet here this evening."

The blessing was invoked by Captain Butler, Doylestown, and it was voted to hold the next meeting February 15 with Perkase-Sellersville being the hosts. Other invitations were received from Morrisville, Newtown and Doylestown. The executive committee will meet in Doylestown sometime in January.

Thanks to many people for many things

THIS IS THE SEASON OF THANKSGIVING...

And there is much for which we can all be thankful in this great country of ours.

Certainly we are thankful for a bountiful harvest of grain and corn, for a high level of production and employment, for a standard of living that is the envy of the world.

Most of all, perhaps, we are grateful for our American heritage... freedom of opportunity, freedom of choice, freedom to think and worship according to our own beliefs.

We Feel as a Chevrolet dealer it is an appropriate time to convey our sincere appreciation to the people of this community for their loyalty, patience and understanding.

For Despite Chevrolet's production of more cars and trucks during 1948 than any other manufacturer there is still a long "waiting list" for America's most-wanted cars and trucks.

Chevrolet is doing everything within its power to maintain and increase production. Meantime, we would like to express our thanks...

Thanks to Buyers and Prospective Buyers of New Chevrolets for your generous recognition of the honest value built into this first-choice car in the low-priced field. More people have bought Chevrolet cars and trucks, during the eighteen-year period from 1931 to date, than have bought the cars and trucks of any other manufacturer.

Thanks to Those Who Are Waiting for Orders to be Filled for your patience and understanding. You can be sure we are doing our best to treat all customers fairly... doing our best to speed the day when we can give you the good news, "Your waiting days are over!"

Thanks to Service Customers for the opportunity to keep your present cars in safe driving condition. We have tried to serve you well, and appreciate your patronage.

Thanks to all whose friendship and favor have helped maintain Chevrolet's leadership.

Thanks for your patronage which has made

RAMBLERS DEFEAT THE WASHINGTON TEAM, 2-0

Playing their second game of the season the Bristol Ramblers Roller Hockey team shut out the Riverside Rollers at the Riverside Stadium, Washington D. C., Sunday. The Washington players are leading the league in their division.

The first period was chockful of exciting action, with plenty of hard body blocking and checking. Both teams were fighting hard, but neither team scored.

In the second period, things really started to click with clever passing by both teams. After 12 minutes of hard battling, Lawrence Ritter scored for the Ramblers with a spectacular shot from just outside the cage that caromed off the shoulder of Washington's goalie Selly. Earl Hampton was credited with the assists.

In 15 minutes after the third period, Lawrence Ritter again scored for the Ramblers on a pass from "Bill" Ritter, and faking Selly out of his position of goalie. The Ramblers maintained this lead throughout the rest of the game.

Riverside Rollers: Selly, 1—G.

Philly's, 10—R. D.; Hayes, 0—L. D.; Stibbins, 3—C.; Leather, 6—R.W.; Graham, 5—L. W.

TOWNSHIP ELEVEN CLOSES THE SEASON

Bristol Township Junior High School closed its 1948 gridiron season with a 38-6 victory over the St. Francis Vocational School Junior Varsity team yesterday afternoon on the Township field.

Larry Harrison and Harry Eisenbrey scored two touchdowns each in the fracas while the other pair was made by Louis Loeffler and Austin Long.

Harrison made his six-pointers on an end sweep of 15 yards and a center plunge which he converted into a 20-yard run. Loeffler's score was a 70-yard sprint while he also heaved one of the passes which enabled Eisenbrey to score. Eisenbrey's second catch of a pass was one thrown by Muth. Loeffler tossed a long pass to Long for the final touchdown of the day. Two of the extra points were converted.

Township had nine first downs in the game while St. Francis was credited with two.
